3 copies delivered per the order in 1891, consisting of a copy similar to that of the 1891 set.

If the material is obtained, these materials should be sent into the country a quarter of a million of immigrants per annum for the years 1890, 1891, and 1892.
The request submitted for each country, that is the total of immigrants, is from 20,000 to 30,000 for adults, from 10,000 to 20,000 for children under 15, and from 10,000 to 15,000 for children from 5 to 15 years old.
The whole amount is estimated at 5,000,000 pounds sterling per year.

You will thus see that these people are entirely ignorant of sympathy, but as women and children are included in their number, and they seem to have been aided by the Immigrant Office, who from all accounts is a very respectable establishment, I propose today putting myself in communication with the Divisional Secretary to this Office with the view of ascertaining whether anything can be done towards assisting them, in their number, and in their work, and in their employment.
